Additionally you can synchronize the Succeed Offices printer manually by right-clicking the new icon and select Synchronize printers now.

You will receive this confirmation

Your new installed printer is available:

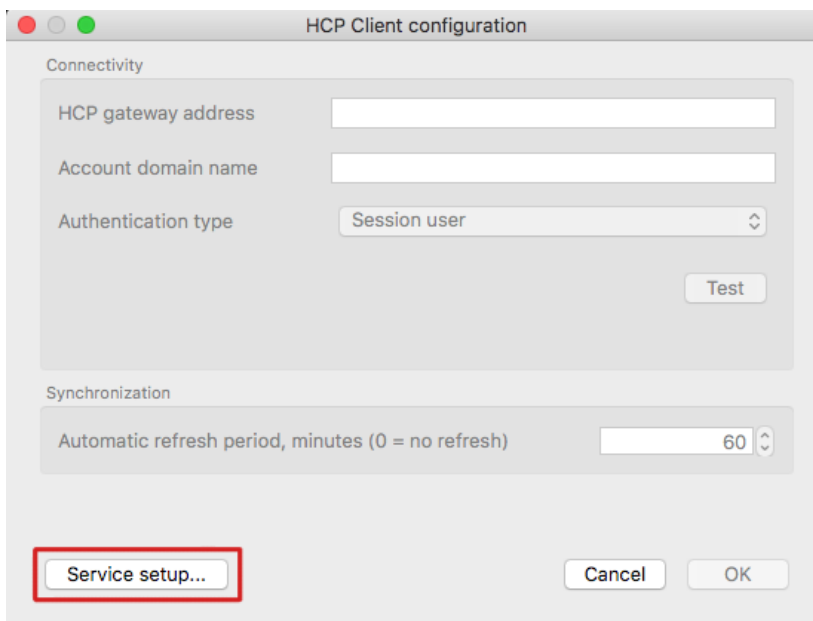

2.2 MacOS client installation

For macOS the pkg installer is requested. It doesn't accept any configuration options so a manual application configuration is required after installation, as outlined in the following sections.

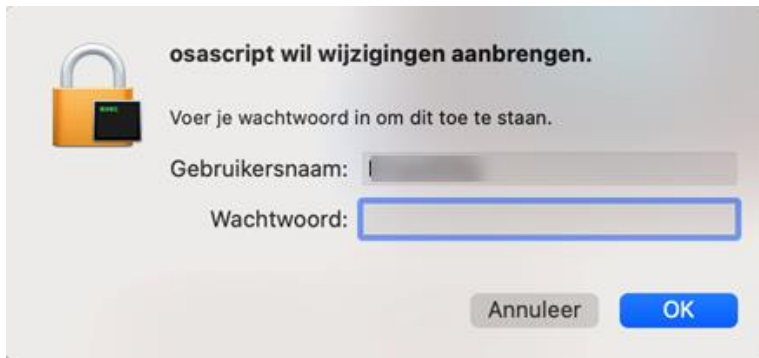

After installation the application will be started automatically. There is no need to restart the computer. After initial installation the client must be configured manually using the configuration dialog and the Service setup button. When pressing this button the user will be asked for the password for privilege elevation.
